A few months ago, my motorcycle broke down on the interstate and I needed to leave it there overnight until I could get a trailer to pick it up. When I returned early the next morning, it had already been towed and I was written a ticket! Although I pleaded with the officer to make an exception, he was firm in his decision and the ticket was finalized. So much frustration filled my mind and heart that day at the "injustice" of it all.

On further reflection however, I came to peace with the decision. After reviewing the laws put in place for the given circumstances, the officer was right in his decision, as he was following the law! How great it would have been however, if there had been someone there to take that ticket for me. Only someone who greatly loves me would be willing to pay the fine on my behalf! Today we're going to look at judgement as seen in Exodus through the celebrating of the Passover. I hope we will see God's great love through his payment of our fine!
